

From a leaf-clad hotel in Singapore to the New York skyscraper with a sky bridge that houses a SWIMMING POOL: The world's best tall buildings named

- Council On Tall Buildings And Urban Habitat hands out annual awards to the best tall buildings around globe
- The overall winner is named as the Oasia Hotel Downtown Singapore, which is clad in leaves and other plants
- Also praised are the American Copper Buildings in New York and the Silo in Danish capital Copenhagen

Best Tall Building Worldwide - Oasia Hotel Downtown Singapore

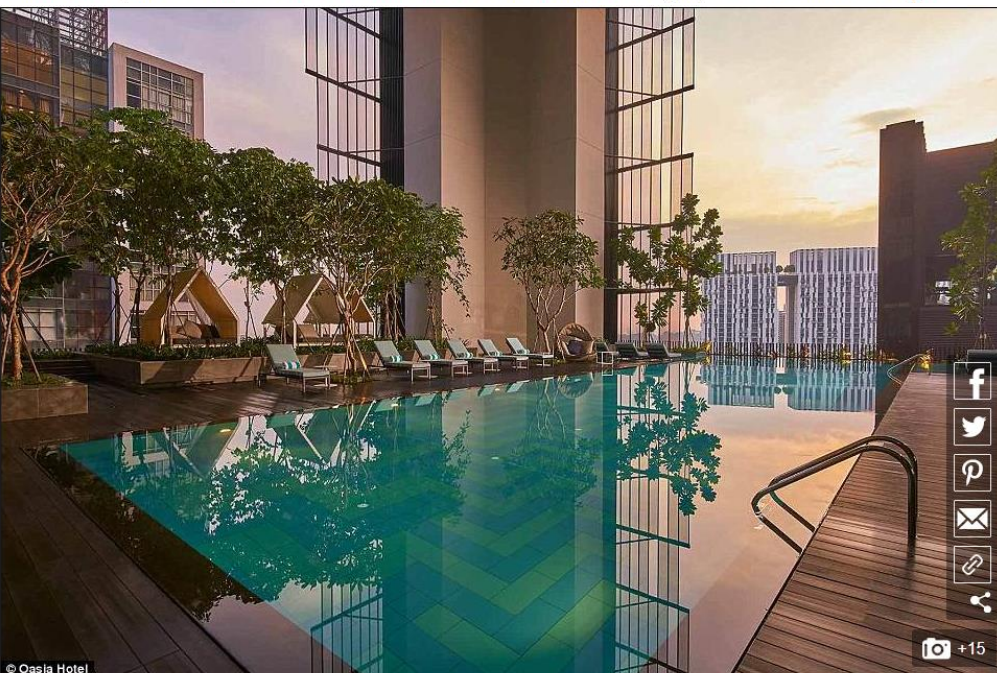

The visually-striking Oasia Hotel Downtown in Singapore, left. It stands out among the grey and blue high-rises of Singapore with its plant-covered façade, right

The OSO Ristorante, an Italian eatery located on the 27th floor of the Oasia Hotel Downtown, which has been named the best tall building in the world

The Cin Cin bar, which is also inside the Oasia Hotel. It offers close to 100 different gins, sourced from around the globe

The stunning infinity pool that is housed in the Oasia Hotel Downtown in Singapore. The pool is reserved for club guests only

The visually-striking Oasia Hotel Downtown stands out among the grey and blue high-rises of Singapore with its plant-covered red-and-green façade.